Plays for the Coming Week.

Five New Offerings, All but One in Merry Vein, Will Give Season Its First Big Impetus-A War Drama in the List -Belasco to Produce an American Comedy.

MUSICAL comedy, "The Girl Who Smiles," comes to the Lyric Theatre on Monday evening. It is by Paul Herve, Jean Briquet, Adolf Phillip and Edward A. Paulton. The company includes Natalie Alt, George Baldwin, Fred Walton, William Danforth, Grace Leigh, Joseph Phillipps, Paul Decker, Paul Hyde Davies, Marie Fanchonetti, Nace Bonville, Jennie Dickerson, Ralph Bunker and Lillian Spencer.

"The Girl from Utah," with Julia Sanderson Donald Brian and Joseph Cawthorn, returns to the Knickerbocker Theatre on Monday night.

On Tuesday night David Belasco will present at the Belasco Theatre an American comedy by Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes called "The Boomerang." Two couples get entangled in the meshes of jealousy, just because they happen to fall in love. In one case a physician and a love. In one case a physician and a nurse effect a cure. Jealousy mic-robes are put to rout through a practical and thorough system of mental and physical exercise and repose. In the other a complete understanding gets the better of the love-jealousy "bugs." The cast will number among its members Arthur Byron, Wallace Eddinger, Martha Hedman, Ruth Shepley, Gilbert Douglas, Richard Maichien, William Boag, John Clement, Josephine Farks, Dorothy Megrew and Mrs. Harriet Otis Dellenbaugh.

"Under Fire," the latest play by Rol Cooper Megrue, will be presented by Selwyn & Co. on Wednesday night at the Hudson Theatre. This play is a love drama developed in the trenches and shelters of modern war, but free of the noise and horror of battle. It is filled with comedy made pointed by the tense scenes in which it appears and gives a dramatic representation of the way men and women sentation of the way men and women behave whatever the incongruity of their surroundings. The scenes are in London, Beigium, a field hospital in Northern France and in one of the row the Vitagraph Theatre will pre-sent "From Out of the Big Snows" as the feature picture. The story tells of an adventurer, who, because of an accident, is compelled to remain for awhile in the local doctor's cabin. This farce, by Zellah Covington and Jules Simonson, has been revised and staged by Percival Knight. It deals with the supposed discovery of the elixir of youth by an old scientist. The application of the elixir to an old "High Life Girls" as the attraction.
